For others there may be a nominal charge to cover the cost of course materials. Three units of Mandatory Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) credit are given to attorneys who wish such credit (including legal ethics and law practice management).

Bart Lee is a seasoned and senior litigator in federal and state courts, and administrative agencies. He has several appellate and other published opinions to his credit, and has taught and written about law for many years....

BARTHOLOMEW LEE CV

I am counsel to Spiegel Liao and Kagay, LLP, San Francisco. We have been privileged both to defend many people and companies and also to effect affirmative remedies for some of them including compensation. Our experience ranges widely over the law, including antitrust, false claims and racketeering litigation. Charly Kagay in this office is an Appellate Specialist with a well-earned reputation for outstanding work. Michael Spiegel is one of the country's premier antitrust attorneys. We are admitted to the practice of law in California, We are each "AV" rated, the highest level for ability and integrity in the legal community, and this firm appears in the Bar Register of Preeminent Lawyers. "Litigation, Mediation, Appeals and Deals" (Service Mark) is the way I see the practice of law. My law practice of more than thirty-five years has emphasized trials and appeals primarily in Federal courts. I have taught law at the University of Chicago Law School and Golden Gate University.

Law Practice: Private practice in business and government-related litigation continuously since 1973 with four jury trials and many court trials, hearings and appeals in Federal and State courts in California, Arizona, Illinois and New York, and multiple administrative proceedings.

- Member, California State Bar since 1973; - Candidate for California Attorney General (Libertarian), 1982.

- Practice now limited to Counsel to Spiegel Liao & Kagay, San Francisco; see: www.slksf.com.

TECHNICAL BIOGRAPHY (from www.QRZ.com/KV6LEE):

Forty some odd years ago, Popular Electronics bestowed on me the "Cinderella" callsign WPE2DLT, and short wave radio has been my main hobby since those days. I made my first radio 50 years ago, using a razor blade and pencil lead detector. An interest in emergency services led me to get my amateur radio license in 1999 (presently Extra Class). In September, 2001, New York Red Cross put me to work using amateur radio for disaster relief from September 12 to September 20, as the night-shift "trick-chief" acting as the deputy to Jay Ferron, N4GAA (see Popular Communications, Sept. 2002 issue: "9-11: Amateur Radio in New York"). In the City of San Francisco many agencies supporting emergency communications including the Office of Emergency Services (OES), A.R.E.S., the Red Cross, the Neighborhood Emergency Response Team and the San Francisco Amateur Radio Club have provided me with training and drill opportunities. I have served as the A.R.E.S. Emergency Coordinator in the ARRL San Francisco Section for the City of San Francisco, and as Liaison Officer for the Auxiliary Communications Service of the City of San Francisco Office of Emergency Services and Homeland Security (now Department of Emergency Management). For more on San Francisco amateur radio and emergency radio preparedness, please visit www.sfarc.org and links. These associations have permitted me certifications as a First Responder Medic, as a member of my neighborhood Emergency Response Team, and in the Incident Command System 200 Level, and ARECC Level III. Early service in the Civil Air Patrol showed me the value of training for emergencies. My academic interests include use of radio for intelligence work -- see "Radio Spies, Episodes in the Ether Wars," 15 Antique Wireless Association Review 7 (2002 -- available along with other radio history articles at www.californiahistoricalradio.com), and antique radio with the California Historical Radio Society (Herrold Award 1991) and the Antique Wireless Association (Houck Award for Documentation, 2003). I have taught law and economics at Golden Gate University, including the economic history of telecommunications. A lawyer by trade, I have enjoyed an international practice, see www.slksf.com, handling "Litigation, Mediation, Appeals & Deals" (SM). I presently serve as an ARRL Volunteer Counsel and as an ARRL Government Liaison. The 160 meter Marconi Beacon Experiment (winter, 2006-'07 and ongoing) that I proposed to the Poldhu (UK) Amateur Radio Club in 2005 is a focus of much of my current interest in radio history. See "GB3SSS - Marconi's Transatlantic Leap Revisted," (by G0KYA) in QST, Dec. 2007, p. 40...
